Chief Executives Statement of Intent

Public Health Wales is committed to providing safe, effective and supportive services. We believe that our staff are our most important asset and as such we accept responsibility for ensuring, so far as is reasonably practicable, the health, safety and welfare of all employees and of those who may be affected by our activities.

We are committed to excellence and the provision of quality service, it follows that the Health and Safety, of those using our facilities visiting our sites or affected by our actions, is fundamental to the provision of our services.

Public Health Wales believes that an excellent organisation is by definition safe and secure. It therefore follows that caring for all personnel and minimising risks is inseparable from all other Public Health Wales objectives. It recognises that it is essential that there is a safe environment and that all staff are competent, healthy and safe at work.

All employees will be provided with equipment, information, training and supervision as is necessary to implement the Policy and achieve the stated objective.

I, as the Chief Executive regard health and safety management to be fundamental to the delivery of safe and quality services. I therefore accept ultimate responsibility for health and safety issues. The management of health and safety for Public Health Wales has been delegated to the respective Executive Directors and Senior Managers. However, to ensure that all properties and departments of Public Health Wales comply, many of the duties arising from this responsibility have been further delegated to line managers.

To further maintain and promote the implementation of the Policy and enable employees to function efficiently with regard to health and safety; information, instruction, training and supervision will be provided in accordance with identified needs. It is recognised that health and safety is a key responsibility for Managers and is included in all job descriptions. Effective health and safety management is based on a good understanding of the risks and how to control them. This is achieved through good quality risk assessment and management and with a programme of training based on Public Health Wales Statutory and Mandatory Training requirements.

Whilst overall responsibility to provide and maintain safe and healthy working conditions, equipment and systems of work rests at the highest level of management, every individual has a responsibility to ensure its implementation, so far as is reasonably practicable.
We will fully engage with our staff, and in particular Trade Union appointed Safety representatives, in developing working processes and procedures, and in inspections, audits, and investigations relating to health and safety matters arising from their work activities or in their workplace.

The Trust’s Health and Safety objective is to minimise the number of occupational accidents and incidents of ill health and ultimately to work towards an accident-free workplace.

SIGNED: Tracey Cooper, Chief Executive

DATE: 27 March 2018
3 Introduction

The Health and Safety at Work etc., Act 1974 (The Act) provides the legislative framework to promote, stimulate and encourage high standards of health and safety at work. It places a duty upon the employer to safeguard so far as is reasonably practicable, the health, safety and welfare of all employees, including the provision and maintenance of safe plant and systems of work. In addition to this Act, there are a number of other related laws which have relevance within Public Health Wales. These are also designed to ensure that work is conducted in a safe and healthy manner and environment as much as possible.

The Act requires all employers to prepare a Health and Safety Policy and bring that policy to the attention of all employees.

Compliance with the Health and Safety at Work etc., Act 1974 is a legal requirement. As such, an offence, committed under the Act would constitute a criminal offence and could lead to persecution, resulting in a fine and/or term of imprisonment.

Although the main responsibilities for compliance with the Act rests with the employer, every employee has a responsibility to ensure that no one is harmed as a result of their acts or omissions during the course of their work.

Employees have a duty under the Act, to take reasonable care to avoid injury to themselves and others and to cooperate with employers and others in meeting statutory requirements. The Act also requires employees not to interfere or misuse anything provided in the interests of health and safety or welfare in pursuance of any specific requirement of any relevant statutory provisions.

4 Policy aims and objectives

The aim of this policy is to outline how Public Health Wales will discharge its statutory health and safety duties to provide a safe environment for service users, visitors, contractors, staff and others who may be affected by the work of the Organisation.

The policy aims are to:

- outline the requirements of the Health and Safety at Work etc., Act 1974;
- outline the management of Health and Safety arrangements within Public Health Wales;
- minimise the Health and Safety risks within Public Health Wales to all staff and others;
- recognise the obligations imposed under the Health and Safety at Work etc., Act 1974, Section 2(3), to prepare an appropriate policy.
The policy objectives are to:

- secure the health, safety and welfare of people at work;
- protect service users and people other than those at work against risks to their health and safety arising out of work activities;
- minimise the number of occupational accidents and incidents of ill health and ultimately to achieve an accident-free workplace;
- minimise financial loss as a direct and indirect cost associated with incidents, accidents and occupational ill health;
- establish a culture of co-operation, communication, competency and control for health and safety.

5 Responsibilities

Public Health Wales recognises and accepts its responsibilities for establishing and maintaining, so far as is reasonably practicable, a safe and healthy working environment. This responsibility arises from:

- a moral responsibility to provide the best working conditions and safe systems of work as far as is reasonably practical.
- public Health Wales statutory obligations to comply with the Health and Safety at Work etc., Act 1974 and other related legislation.

5.1 Ultimate and Overall Responsibility

5.1.1 Board members

Board Members are collectively responsible for providing leadership and direction on health and safety. Non-Executive Directors will help ensure the organisation gets the right direction and leadership on health and safety matters, they also perform a scrutinising role ensuring the integrity of the process to support the Board’s significant health and safety risks.

5.1.2 The Chief Executive

The Chief Executive accepts ultimate overall responsibility for all matters including health, safety and welfare in Public Health Wales. She is responsible for ensuring appropriate health and safety management arrangements are in place, from the Health and Safety Group through to each Directorate/ Division ensuring there is adequate communication, cooperation, competency and control.

Specifically the Chief Executive is responsible for:

- ensuring that the Public Health Wales Health and Safety Policy is implemented and reviewed annually;
• ensuring the Board is informed as required on health and safety matters affecting employees and/or the public;
• ensuring that regular update reports, together with an Annual Report are presented to the Board;
• supporting training and development of staff – safe staff are our most important asset;
• monitoring that health and safety performance against agreed targets;
• including within the Annual Report a section on Public Health Wales health and safety plans and performance;
• ensuring that health and safety is adequately resourced within Public Health Wales;

• work with all staff to maintain, monitor, review and audit safe management systems
• work with managers/leads to undertake and review health and safety risk assessments, ensure lessons learnt are captured and acted upon
• ensure that health and safety related training is planned, implemented and monitored effectively
• provide support and advice to the Head of Estates and Health and Safety and the Deputy Chief Executive / Executive Director of Finance and Operations in the implementation of health and safety policies

The Health and Safety Manager will have direct access to the Deputy Chief Executive / Executive Director of Finance and Operations to allow them to carry out their role effectively.

5.2.9 Employee Responsibility

Public Health Wales recognises the importance employees can play in helping avoid accidents and ill health at work. Employees must report all incidents and hazards as soon as possible.

All employees (for the purpose of this policy this includes all those included within the scope of this policy), have a statutory duty of care, both for their own personal safety and that of others who may be affected by their acts or omissions.

All employees are required to bring to the attention of their managers/leads/supervisor or recognised health and safety staff representative any hazards or specific queries and concerns relating to health and safety in the workplace.

Specifically, all employees are required to:

- co-operate with the employers safety arrangements
- take reasonable care for their own health and safety
- consider the safety of other persons who may be affected by their acts or omissions
- work in accordance with information and training provided
- refrain from intentionally misusing or recklessly interfering with anything that has been installed/placed/fitted etc. For health and safety reasons to ensure safe work practices
- report to a responsible person without delay any hazardous defects in plant and equipment or shortcomings in the existing safety arrangements
- report all building/facilities defects to the estates department and/or shared services and hosting organisation where appropriate
- report incidents and near misses in accordance with the Incident Reporting Policy
- not undertake any task for which authorisation and/or training has not been given
- to co-operate with the employer so far as is necessary to enable that duty or requirement to be performed or complied with. It is the responsibility of staff to contribute to the carrying out of suitable and sufficient assessment of risk
- undertake identified health and safety training in line with specific roles and responsibilities

6 Audit Monitoring Arrangements for Health and Safety

Senior Managers, supported by staff health and safety representatives, will carry out monitoring of this policy at specified intervals following implementation. A diagram outlining the Health and Safety reporting structure is shown in appendix 1.

A number of mechanisms will exist to measure the success of the policy. These will include:
6.1 Internal monitoring

Internal monitoring of Health and Safety within Public Health Wales is the responsibility of Executive Directors and Senior Managers and will be overseen by:

The Health and Safety Group which will consider the effectiveness of arrangements for the day to day management of health and safety including shared learning as a result of incidents. The work of this group will be considered by the People and Organisational Development Committee.

Specifically on behalf of the Board, the People and Operational Development Committee will seek assurance that:

- there are increased alignment of health and safety incidents and lessons learned;
- there is increased awareness of health and safety across Public Health Wales;
- health and safety incidents including The Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations 2013 (RIDDORs) are recognised, themes identified and mitigation enacted where necessary;
- all incidents/accidents are reported using appropriate incident reporting process;
- ensuring that incidents/accidents are investigated and that action are fed back to the reporting individual;
- ensure lessons learned from employee litigation claims, with lessons learnt cascaded across Public Health Wales where appropriate;
- processes are in place to undertake regular checks of sickness and absence statistics and to identify those absences that are a result of work related injuries/ill health;
- records maintained relating to Staff Health and Safety Training;
- recognised staff representatives with responsibility for health and safety are fully involved in health and safety activity.

6.2 Health and Safety Audit

All Directors will ensure that audits are carried out, provide designated leads to assist in line with Public Health Wales Audit protocol, and action plans are developed to address any gaps.

7 Resources

Public Health Wales will identify a designated corporate budget for Health and Safety across the organisation, while also recognising it is an integral aspect of all operational activity. If any additional resources are required, this will be considered as part of the risk management and profiling arrangements within Public Health Wales.

Any additional cost needs identified as a result of new or specific policy needs will be brought to the Executive Team, Board Committee or Board –if required.

8 Training

Public Health Wales Health and Safety Policy and enactment arrangements will be brought to the attention of all new staff at induction and provide updated training as identified for their specific roles and responsibilities.

All staff will be required to undertake mandatory training relevant to their role.

9 Communication and Implementation

A copy of the Trust Health and Safety Policy and related publications will be accessible via Public Health Wales intranet site.

A register of all Public Health Wales Health and Safety Policies and Procedures will be maintained by the Corporate Governance Directorate. They will ensure that all policies and procedures are maintained on Public Health Wales intranet (in line with PHW management of policies, procedures and control of documents).
