Thinking

about applying to the Public Health Practitioner Registration
Scheme for Wales?

This information resource is designed to help you get started on your journey to UKPHR Practitioner Registration

Ready?

You can start to prepare for registration at any point in your career

Once you have been working at an autonomous level for 2+ years, you are eligible to apply to a scheme

But starting as soon as possible is a great idea as you can compile much of your portfolio, and complete all the learning whilst you progress

Talk to your line manager and include UKPHR portfolio development in your annual appraisal, using the Standards to help you plan your CPD for the year ahead.

An annual appraisal template document is available.

Complete the CPD checklist to give you more information about what is required

Get set

1

Complete a UKPHR standards form and mapping of standards form. This tool can be used to map your current experience and underpinning knowledge and understanding to the UKPHR practitioner standards 2nd Edition. It will allow you to make a judgement about what you can draw upon from your learning and work experience to date, helping you to identify any gaps.

2

Create a UKPHR folder on your computer and begin to track down all the certificates and module outlines you have to meet each UKPHR Standard

3

Identify gaps in your knowledge, explore ways to fill these

4

If there are standards where you have little or no practice examples- you may need to find secondments or opportunities to work on different programmes which will give you this experiential learning

Go!

Once you have fully completed the self-assessment and have completed the relevant CPD to fill any gaps you are ready to apply to a regional scheme. You can find out which scheme you are eligible to join here UK Public Health Register – \(ukphr.org\)

Start to consider which 3 succinct pieces of work you will write about in your “commentaries”. Remember: big is not always best – choose work that is a) recent b) you worked mostly autonomously. Use the commentary writing modules to help guide you. Support is also provided on this by the Public Health Practitioner Registration Scheme for Wales

You are ready to commence writing your portfolio- it will take 12-18 months to complete the formal assessment and verification process.
