

A Picture of Health in Cardiff

Cardiff has a general profile of health that is largely the same as the Wales average. It has a population that is growing faster than the national rate, has areas of high deprivation and a higher than average percentage of people from Ethnic minority backgrounds.

Positives for health:

- Cardiff has a significantly lower number of people out of work than the Wales average. It also has a significantly lower number of deaths from Road Traffic Accidents.

Challenges for the community:

- Cardiff has the lowest proportion in Wales of people meeting a general education standard.
- A significantly higher number of people in Cardiff, under the age of 75, die from Cancer than the Wales average.

This local picture of health is a first attempt at raising awareness of general health with the public by the Wales Centre for Health. As such we welcome feedback and discussion about how best to engage and inform the public about general health issues.

Notes:

The spine chart shows the relative position of an area between the best and worst results in Wales. Green bars show a result that is significantly better than the Wales Average. Red bars show a result significantly worse than the Wales average. Yellow bars show results within the average range.
